

A motivated and ambitious graduate is sought by our ever expanding client. A well established business with a solid client base operating in the South West; they are seeking to add to their permanent workforce. As a trainee you will learn all aspects of their business, firstly within the warehouse then within the sales and customer service department and most likely specialising in the field of Buying or as a team leader in the sales department. Therefore you need to have good IT skills coupled with a customer focused approach to work - some service industry experience would be advantageous. An analytical nature would be also be preferred. An essential requirement along with a degree is a clean driving licence and ideally you will live within 10 miles of Heathfield.

This is a perfect opportunity for any graduate who is business minded, dynamic and adaptable. In a business to business environment, knowing your departments inside out is the key to success and to progression. If you have experience within the service industry since leaving university or during your studies then this may well be the perfect opportunity you are looking for. People with potential are easily recognised and progression is fast paced with the introduction of each area of the business well covered from the bottom to the top.
